

Southern Oregon Center for Community Partnerships

The Southern Oregon Center for Community Partnerships is RVCOG's sister nonprofit. Its purpose is to effectively utilize locally available professional expertise by creating partnerships between the public, private, education, and nonprofit sectors for the design and implementation of mutually beneficial programs and projects. The Center grew out of RVCOG's experience with regional program implementation and multi-sector collaboration. The Center has no direct staff; RVCOG provides administrative support. Program implementation occurs through partnerships with regional entities.
